Course Description
The “third wave” of democratization has stalled in the recent years. The rise of illiberal populism and nostalgia for authoritarianism have sparked theoretical and empirical debates in the field of comparative and global politics. This course builds on comparative democratization literature to examine why and how democracies emerge, persist and breakdown. We begin by considering the theoretical debates in defining and measuring democracy before examining the challenges in the rise, survival and breakdown of democracies, especially in the Middle-East and Asia.

Course Objectives
This is a reading and writing intensive course designed to equip senior undergraduate students with a solid background in the study of democratization in the post-Cold War era. The aim is to familiarize students with the key concepts, theoretical debates and empirical cases in democratization studies. Students are encouraged to demonstrate their case knowledge of any country or region to class discussions and written assignments.

N.B. This course will be especially helpful for students interested in pursuing graduate studies in Comparative Politics.

Class Format
The classes will be conducted in a “blended” approach comprising of synchronous and asynchronous learning methods. Each week, you will need to attend a course via Zoom for about 20 minutes lecture on the week’s topic.

We will take another 15 mins for a “breakout” group discussion session, with each group moderated by one of you. Each week, about 4-5 students will be in charge of being a moderator, to summarize and share the discussion points on Avenue to Learn. Given our “blended” format, it will be best for you to download in advance, learn and familiarize yourself with the following free apps and tools that we are using in this class:
1) Avenue to learn – to access course readings, ppt slides, videos and assignments
2) Zoom – for our weekly online classes
3) Google docs – available online for collaborative work and discussion
4) Zotero – free citation software (strongly encourage for your annotated bibliography and research essay)

Pay attention to the due dates for all the weekly assignments and discussion topics (see Course Schedule in p.5). You will be provided time to work on your assigned weekly readings, and assignments within a flexible time frame. There will be two 1 hour classes dedicated to individual presentations on 25 Nov and 2 Dec 2020.

I will hold office hours every Thurs from 2:00-3:20pm. This means that I will be available to meet virtually with you one-on-one at this time for at least 15 mins time slot with you. You will be able to see my availability on Outlook’s email calendar. Go to “Calendar” icon at the bottom of your exchange email. Click on “Open Shared Calendar”, type my name or email address netina@mcmaster.ca. And you will be able to see my calendar and availability. You can set a specific time slot with me on Thurs during the office hour to discuss one-on-one any questions or ideas you have about the course.

Additionally, you can contact me via email (netina@mcmaster.ca) or on Avenue’s other communication channels (check “Announcements” and “Activity Feeds”). I will do my best to respond as promptly as possible.

Course Evaluation – Overview

1. 2 x Weekly Moderator (5% each) – 10%
2. 10 x Weekly Responses (1% each response) – 20%
5. Final Take Home Exam – 30% due on 16 Dec 2020

Course Evaluation – Details

2 x Group Moderator (5% each x 2, total = 10%)

At the beginning of the course, you will be asked to sign up for two different weeks to be a group moderator. Each week, the class will be divided into groups of 5-6 for a 10 minute group discussion in Zoom’s “break out rooms”.

If you signed up as the moderator that week, you will be responsible for facilitating a small group discussion on a question and take notes that summarize your main discussion points. The discussion questions for each week are listed in the syllabus' weekly topic and each group will be assigned a question or two.

As the instructor, I will move between groups during the discussion period to help if necessary. After the small group discussions, the whole class will meet together again. As the moderator, you will quickly share what your small groups discussed (no more than 1-2 mins). You will also upload a summary of your small group’s discussion points. on the Avenue to Learn discussion folder for assessment (a template is on Avenue). Your summary notes must make reference to at least one reading.

Each moderation (including your summary notes) will be worth 5% of your course grade. So, two moderations will be worth 10% of your course grade. Your moderation will be evaluated based on two sets of equally-weighted criteria: your ability to communicate the main points of your moderation during our class discussion and the quality of your summary notes.

10 x Weekly Response (10%) (due every Tue night, 16 Sep-25 Nov)
You are expected to complete the required weekly readings before class. In addition, you are also required to write a short response (about one paragraph of 4-5 sentences) on one of the week’s assigned readings and upload it on the Avenue’s discussion forum. Do add your opinion of your selected article/event. All responses will have to be submitted on the Avenue to Learn every Tuesday night before the Wednesday class. Please make sure to post your response as text directly in the Avenue forum (DO NOT attach a PDF or word document to the discussion forum). You will receive full marks for your weekly response provided you fulfil the necessary criteria.

Short Opinion Paper (25%): Due 4 Nov
You will write a 1,500 words opinion paper (no more than 3 pages, single-spaced) based on the list of topics enclosed. In your essay, you will need to state whether you agree or disagree with the selected statement below and support this position with research. In your paper, you will need to explain your interpretation of the topic/statement and explain the theoretical/empirical reasons for your thesis/position. In the paper itself, ensure that you cite a balance of key scholarship/theory and empirical examples. Make sure you cite at least three key scholars, theoretical approaches, or key pieces of literature and at least two empirical examples of countries or case studies that support your position.

Your bibliography should include at least 10 academic sources (excluding magazine/news articles).

The opinion paper should be formatted using Chicago Manual Style (author-date) and single spaced.

Topics (pick one of the following):
1. Democracy is a universal value.
2. Democracy emerges as a result of economic development.
3. Higher inequality, higher democratization.
4. No state, no democracy.
5. Diversity hurts democracy.
6. Elections are irrelevant in democracies.
7. Oil and natural resources hinder democracy.
8. No gender equality, no democracy.
9. Digital technology promotes democracy.
10. Social media undermines democracy.
If you have any questions with this assignment, please see me during office hours. Past experiences show that students who discuss their topic/ideas in advance tend to do much better than others who do not. You will submit your essay in electronically on Avenue. All late submissions will be penalized (see penalty in the Course Policies).

Note: This assignment is worth 25% and the MSAF does not apply. See late assignment policy in the Late Assignments section of the syllabus.

Video Presentation (25%): Due 1 Dec

You can pick any reading or topic in this course syllabus and record a 3-4 minute video or recorded PowerPoint presentation (with slides and your voice over) that summarizes the content. Ideally, your presentation topic should focus on a pressing issue related to democratization today. You should also pitch your presentation to your classmates with little or no knowledge of the topic that you are presenting on.

Examples of good topics to consider includes:

1) Rise of populism around the world/ one country
2) Rise of social inequality and mass mobilization
3) Fake news and impact on democracy
4) Ethnic conflicts and democracy
5) Electoral fraud and democratic trust
6) Voter apathy
7) Voter turnout
8) Mass protests and democratic change

You will be required to sign up for video presentation in advance to prevent overlap in topics. Please check the Resources folder on Avenue to find instructions on how to record a video using MacVideo, a phone or any handheld device that you have. If you have other alternative, more innovative presentation methods (apart from playing a video from YouTube) with regards to the video format or ppt presentation, please schedule a time and discuss with me during office hours.

The criteria for the video presentation will include:

- Engaging, clear, and persuasive presentation style
- Timely, factual and clear content
- Professionalism and creativity of audiovisual presentation

Final Take Home Exam (30%): Due 16 Dec

This exam will be cumulative and cover all the materials introduced in Weeks 1-12. I will release the final exam questions online on 9 Dec 2020. You will have a week to complete the exam. You will submit the completed final exam on 16 Dec on Avenue (Assignments). The format of the exam will consist of multiple-choice questions, concept definitions, and short essay.

Absences, Missed Work, Illness
McMaster Student Absence Form (MSAF): In the event of an absence for medical or other reasons, students should review and follow the Academic Regulation in the Undergraduate Calendar “Requests for Relief for Missed Academic Term Work”.

Avenue to Learn
In this course we will be using Avenue to Learn (AVL). Students should be aware that, when they access the electronic components of this course, private information such as first and last names, user names for the McMaster e-mail accounts, and program affiliation may become apparent to all other students in the same course. The available information is dependent on the technology used. Continuation in this course will be deemed consent to this disclosure. If you have any questions or concerns about such disclosure please discuss this with the course instructor.

Turnitin.com
In this course we will be using a web-based service (Turnitin.com) to reveal authenticity and ownership of student submitted work. Students will be expected to submit their work electronically either directly to Turnitin.com or via Avenue to Learn (AVL) plagiarism detection (a service supported by Turnitin.com) so it can be checked for academic dishonesty. Students who do not wish to submit their work through AVL and/or Turnitin.com must still submit an electronic and/or hardcopy to the instructor. No penalty will be assigned to a student who does not submit work to Turnitin.com or AVL. All submitted work is subject to normal verification that standards of academic integrity have been upheld (e.g., on-line search, other software, etc.). For more information please refer to the Turnitin.com Policy.

Copyright and Recording
Students are advised that lectures, demonstrations, performances, and any other course material provided by an instructor include copyright protected works. The Copyright Act and copyright law protect every original literary, dramatic, musical and artistic work, including lectures by University instructors.
The recording of lectures, tutorials, or other methods of instruction may occur during a course. Recording may be done by either the instructor for the purpose of authorized distribution, or by a student for the purpose of personal study. Students should be aware that their voice and/or image may be recorded by others during the class. Please speak with the instructor if this is a concern for you.

Academic Accommodation for Religious, Indigenous or Spiritual Observances (RISO)

Students requiring academic accommodation based on religious, indigenous or spiritual observances should follow the procedures set out in the RISO policy. Students should submit their request to their Faculty Office normally within 10 working days of the beginning of term in which they anticipate a need for accommodation or to the Registrar's Office prior to their examinations. Students should also contact their instructors as soon as possible to make alternative arrangements for classes, assignments, and tests.

Academic Integrity Statement

You are expected to exhibit honesty and use ethical behaviour in all aspects of the learning process. Academic credentials you earn are rooted in principles of honesty and academic integrity.

Academic dishonesty is to knowingly act or fail to act in a way that results or could result in unearned academic credit or advantage. This behaviour can result in serious consequences, e.g. the grade of zero on an assignment, loss of credit with a notation on the transcript (notation reads: “Grade of F assigned for academic dishonesty”), and/or suspension or expulsion from the university.

It is your responsibility to understand what constitutes academic dishonesty. For information on the various types of academic dishonesty please refer to the Academic Integrity Policy.

The following illustrates only three forms of academic dishonesty

- Plagiarism, e.g. the submission of work that is not one’s own or for which other credit has been obtained.
- Improper collaboration in group work.
- Copying or using unauthorized aids in tests and examinations.

Conduct Expectations

As a McMaster student, you have the right to experience, and the responsibility to demonstrate, respectful and dignified interactions within all of our living, learning and working communities. These expectations are described in the Code of Student Rights & Responsibilities (the “Code”). All students share the responsibility of maintaining a positive environment for the academic and personal growth of all McMaster community members, whether in person or online.

It is essential that students be mindful of their interactions online, as the Code remains in effect in virtual learning environments. The Code applies to any interactions that adversely affect, disrupt, or interfere with reasonable participation in University activities. Student disruptions or behaviours that interfere with university functions on online platforms (e.g. use of Avenue 2 Learn, WebEx or Zoom for delivery), will be taken very seriously and will be investigated. Outcomes may include restriction or removal of the involved students’ access to these platforms.

Academic Accommodation of Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities who require academic accommodation must contact Student Accessibility Services (SAS) at 905-525-9140 ext. 28652 or sas@mcmaster.ca to make arrangements with a Program Coordinator. For further information, consult McMaster University’s Academic Accommodation of Students with Disabilities policy.

Faculty of Social Sciences E-mail Communication Policy

Effective September 1, 2010, it is the policy of the Faculty of Social Sciences that all e-mail communication sent from students to instructors (including TAs), and from students to staff, must originate from the student’s own McMaster University e-mail account. This policy protects confidentiality and confirms the identity of the student. It is the student’s responsibility to ensure that communication is sent to the university from a McMaster account. If an instructor becomes aware that a communication has come from an alternate address, the instructor may not reply at his or her discretion.

Course Modification

The instructor and university reserve the right to modify elements of the course during the term. The university may change the dates and deadlines for any or all courses in extreme circumstances. If either type of modification becomes necessary, reasonable notice and communication with the students will be given with explanation and the opportunity to comment on changes. It is the responsibility of the student to check his/her McMaster email and course websites weekly during the term and to note any changes.

Extreme Circumstances

The University reserves the right to change the dates and deadlines for any or all courses in extreme circumstances (e.g., severe weather, labour disruptions, etc.). Changes will be communicated through regular McMaster communication channels, such as McMaster Daily News, A2L and/or McMaster email.
